Group Plans Big Protest At Inaugural

No Confrontation With Police To Be Attempted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The same group that sponsored anti-war demonstrations during the Democratic National Convention in Chicago says it will stage three days of "counter-inaugural" protests during Richard M. Nixon's inauguration festivities.

The National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam is organizing the demonstration and seeking parade and rally permits to accommodate as many as 10,000 persons.

But "there is no plan for civil disobedience," said Mobilization Coordinator Rennie Davis. The 28-year-old Davis, advance man for the committee here as he was in Chicago, told an interviewer:

"We do not intend in any way to disrupt any official ceremonies or inauguration activities."

"We are very clear about not wanting any physical confrontation with police."

The Chicago protests resulted in bloody street fighting between police and demonstrators.

The Mobilization's plans call for a "Counter-Inaugural Parade" on Sunday, Jan. 19, the day before the inauguration.

Moon Cracks Are Studied By NASA

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Cracks on the moon found in Apollo 8 pictures may be the result of quakes on the lunar surface, a geologist for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Monday.

John W. Dietrich said rilles on the surface of them "appear to be tension features," caused by contraction of the delicate surface material.

"We see similar things on earth," he said. He compared the character of the rilles as like that of arroyos in the western United States.

The three astronauts, Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr., and Air Force Lt. Col. William A. Anders continued to talk into tape recorders about their impressions of the moon and their trip around it.

Several space agency officials said a behind-the-scenes move is under way to have the moon mariners make their next public appearance in Washington, possibly with a ticker tape parade and a meeting with President Johnson.

Dietrich said a picture taken by the Apollo 8 crew of a large crater showed parallel faults ripping through it from one side to the other, a feature called "graben" on earth.

Dietrich said there were rilles that had the characteristics of meandering rivers or streams "at first glance," but that scientists are divided about whether they were caused by water.

Massive Fuel Thefts Probed In Thailand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bribery, forgery, collusion and government laxity led to massive thefts of aircraft and other fuels intended for vital U.S. military operations in Thailand, federal investigators say in an unpublished report to Sen. William Proxmire.

The report of a 10-man General Accounting Office team reveals that at least 5.5 million gallons of petroleum products were stolen during 1967 in the country, where hundreds of U.S. Air Force bombers and fighter planes employed in the Vietnam war are based.

"The full extent of the financial loss to the government is not known at this time," said the report, explaining that the GAO investigators were unable to determine how many more millions of gallons of fuel had been illegally siphoned from the military supply system.

Proxmire, who requested the GAO investigation, released the report to The Associated Press. He said it disclosed "a shocking failure" by the government to properly police its supply system, and said there should be a further inquiry to determine whether any of the jet fuel, gasoline, diesel fuel and lubricants ended up in Communist hands.

"There could be grounds for action," said the Wisconsin Democrat. An aide said later that the GAO findings would be sent to the Justice Department for study.

The Defense Department, in a reply attached to the report, said that as a result of an investigation by the Air Force, "action has been taken against U.S. personnel ranging from fines to five years at hard labor in one instance." It did not list any names.

The thefts were accomplished, the GAO report said, principally through bribery of U.S. personnel and forgery of receipts—many of them made out to military units that didn't exist.

"It seems clear that the responsible officials acted imprudently" in failing to verify that the fuel was received, said the report, which added:

"The theft of fuel, so far as has been detected, was perpetrated primarily by collusion and forgery; it is possible, therefore, that a more sophisticated system (of verifying delivery), properly implemented, may not have detected such irregularities."

Nonetheless, the GAO recommended that the Pentagon tighten up procedures which the report said "were weak, deficient and did not adequately protect the government's interest." Some steps for better monitoring of the supply network have been taken by military authorities, the report said, but it added that "improved procedures and practices are still required."

Police, Sheriff Probe Rash Of House Burglaries

Circleville Police and the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department are investigating a series apparently connected house burglaries that occurred Monday afternoon and evening.

Two of the burglaries were in the city, three in the village of Ashville and one in the Little Walnut community.

The method of operation in each incident was exactly the same, according to authorities.

The homes were completely ransacked. The burglars were very selective in what they took.

IN most instances, television sets, radios and other appliances were ignored.

The three burglaries in Ashville occurred between 6:30 to 7 p.m., Sheriff Dwight Radcliff believes.

The homes of Richard Noggle, Russel Noggle and Herb Pettibone were entered. Nobody was home at the Pettibone house until after 7 p.m. The Noggles left their homes shortly after 6 p.m.

"It looks like an old fashioned house burglary," Sheriff Radcliff stated. "They tore up everything looking for money or guns. Even the beds were turned back."

Because of the conditions of the homes, an inventory by the owners has not been completed. At the Pettibone home, a watch and money were taken.

At the homes of Richard and Russell Noggle, a watch, guns, cuff links and about $200 in money was missing.

AT Robert Good's home in Little Walnut, the burglars made off with guns and coins.

The two burglaries in Circleville occurred between 3:15 and 8:30 p.m. yesterday.

Mrs. Alva M. Rinehart, 820 Atwater Ave., told police that a three-quarter length mink coat valued at $1,500 was taken, along with several rings.

Carmen Davis, 111 Kimberly Place, reported guns and some money was taken.

Sgt. Richard Anderson and Patrolmen Larry Pontious and Leonard Sines are conducting the investigations in Circleville.

Sheriff Radcliff urged area residents to report any suspiciously acting persons to his office promptly. He also urged residents to record serial numbers of guns and appliances to make identification more simple in the event of theft.

See Packard As Operator Of Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — A multimillionaire industrialist has been picked to ramrod day-to-day operations at the Pentagon while Melvin R. Laird concerns himself as secretary of defense with "big picture" policy questions.

Previous indications by Laird and President-elect Nixon that this would be the case were underlined Monday with the naming of Californian David Packard as deputy defense secretary.

Introducing Packard to Washington newsmen, Laird, a Republican Congressman with little administrative experience, said the electronics executive will be "in position to complement me in those areas where we need strength in the next four years."

"We will have an outstanding administrator on our team," Laird said.

Packard, who will resign as board chairman of Hewlett-Packard Co. of Palo Alto, Calif., gives up nearly $1 million in income derived from the firm alone and $300 million in stock by entering government service.

The new job will pay $30,000 a year. But Packard said he will supplement this by some other income.

By picking a skilled administrator, Laird falls into the mold of current Secretary Clark M. Clifford, but differs vastly from Robert S. McNamara who was something of a one-man show.

As a former Ford Motor Co. president, McNamara was fascinated with the mechanism of running the enormous defense establishment, with its 4.8 million uniformed and civilian personnel and its almost limitless facets.

Davis Named Manager Of The Herald

Steve Jones Is Promoted To News Editor

Appointment of Richard L. Davis as general manager of the Circleville Publishing Co. was announced today by Paul F. Rodenfels, publisher.

At the same time, Steve Jones was promoted to the position of news editor. The appointments are effective Jan. 1, Rodenfels said.

Davis, who also serves as editor of The Herald, started his newspaper career in 1960 after attending the College of St. Charles of Borromeo and Ohio State University. He and his wife, Roberta, reside at 346 Meadow Lane. They have one son, Wayne Kyle, 2.

Jones has been sports editor of The Herald since 1962. He attended the University of Missouri and Ohio State University. Jones is married. He and his wife, Janice, have three children, Steve, Jacqueline and Seth. They are residents of Saltcreek Twp.

Huge Water Main Bursts In Cincy

CINCINNATI (AP) — A 32-inch underground water main burst Monday night, leaving more than half of the city's fire plugs without water pressure.

"A big fire and we would have been in real trouble," said one fire marshal.

Pressure was restored to near normal about midnight.

Water from the main burst through a hillside in Eden Park and sent hundreds of gallons of water through the Mount Adams section.

Monoxide Fumes Fatal To 2 Men

TROY, Ohio (AP) — A father and son were found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning Monday night at their apartment here. The coroner said they had been dead since about Dec. 20.

The victims were Bienn Barker, 45, and Andrew Barker, 75. They were the only occupants of the apartment. A defective flue and space heater caused the deaths, authorities said.

The landlord discovered the bodies, after neighbors reported they hadn't seen the men in several days.

Kennedy Seeks Whip's Job As Power Base In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supporters of Edward M. Kennedy privately give him little chance of winning the No. 2 Senate Democratic post in a bid that apparently is a first step toward a possible 1972 run for the White House.

But win or lose in the challenge he issued Monday, the 36-year-old senator from Massachusetts seems likely to shed at least partially his role as a follower of the leadership team and emerge as a new leader for Senate liberals.

Politicians generally thought this was one of Kennedy's objectives in seeking the job of whip or assistant leader now held by Louisiana's Russell B. Long who wants to keep it.

Although a usually thankless job that mainly involves rounding up colleagues for roll calls, the assistant leader has traditionally stepped up when the top post became vacant and has helped such previous whips as Hubert H. Humphrey and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Kennedy said he has the support of Vice President Humphrey and of Humphrey's running mate in the Nov. 5 election, Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine. His candidacy also won a quick pledge of support from Sen. Philip A. Hart of Michigan who earlier pressed Muskie to get into the race.

The test for Kennedy will come at a closed meeting of all Senate Democrats Friday. Long goes into the meeting with almost solid support of Southern colleagues and an unwillingness on the part of some Northerners to dump him.

Long said from his Baton Rouge home that "super liberals" were behind the move, but "I have to admit they picked a good opponent. Frankly, I think I have enough votes to win."

In an earlier statement issued by his office in Washington, Long said that he welcomes Kennedy's challenge "in good humor." He insisted that, win or lose, the contest would not impair his friendship for Kennedy.

The Louisiana senator said he and Kennedy had differed in the past on matters of importance, but "such differences have left no lasting mark on our friendship or our respect for each other."

Icy Winds Drop Mercury Over Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A blast of arctic cold slammed through the midcontinent today and hammered temperatures well below zero as far south as Kansas, Missouri and Illinois.

The cold snap, packing the lowest temperatures of the young winter season, was compounded by the added bite of wind gusts of 20 to 30 miles an hour in many areas.

The mercury at Chicago plummeted from a Monday high of 34 to 2 below early today. And there seemed little possibility of a quick warmup.

Temperatures failed to rise above 15 below zero in parts of the northern Rockies and plains through Monday. The same region was locked in early morning lows of 25 to 35 below. Bozeman, Mont., registered -36 shortly after midnight.

Ahead of the cold wave, gales whipping around a storm center over the upper great lakes flung snow into adjacent areas and made travel hazardous.

Far to the West, warnings of heavy snow remained in effect through Washington and Oregon and in Montana east of the continental divide. Blizzard warnings were out in the Columbia gorge where blowing and drifting snow slowed highway travel.

Snow drifted piled up in parts of western Oregon which often get through a winter with no snow. Portland was blanketed by 9 inches through Monday, a day in which the mercury failed to climb higher than 10 degrees.

The restaurant and observation deck atop Seattle's 600-foot Space Needle were closed Monday by the city's chilliest Dec. 30 on record, 10 degrees. Zoo director Frank Vincenzi said the cold sent polar bears into their dens.

Only in the Southeast and the far Southwest was there any real mildness. Miami, Fla., was fanned by an overnight low of 75.

1968 On Local Scene Was Primarily A Prosperous Year

"It was the best of times, it was the worst of times" recalls Charles Dickens in the opening of "A Tale of Two Cities." The same may be said of the year 1968 in Pickaway County.

In reviewing events of the departing year one is struck with reminders of jail riots, rising county crime rate and floods that marred the tranquility of Pickaway County.

But the good times are also reflected in the pages of the past year. The Pumpkin Show topped all-time highs for attendance, a new theatre opened in Circleville, residents responded to the plight of an 18-year-old Logan Elm youth named Stephen Knece and the Ashville 4th of July Celebration was certified by the Ohio Festivals Assn. and there are other stories, big and small, ordinary and extraordinary, that made the year 1968 memorable. Below is a recapitulation of some of the events of the last year as recorded in the pages of The Herald.

JANUARY

The season's first sub-zero temperatures greeted the New Year in Pickaway County when an official eight degrees below zero was recorded Monday, Jan. 1.

The first baby of 1968 born in Berger Hospital was the ten-pound daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Shaeffer, Route 1, Lockbourne.

Wayne Hines was elected chairman of Pickaway County Board of Commissioners for 1968.

Richard L. Gearhardt was sworn into office as Mayor of Circleville.

Pickaway County Probate Judge Guy G. Cline was elected president of the Ohio Assn. of Probate Court Judges.

New type theater style chairs replaced the old wooden seats in the Pickaway County Common Pleas Courtroom.

Dr. H. H. Shuttleworth, local chiropractor, was appointed city safety director.

Fire destroyed the old apple house in Laurelville causing an estimated $60,000 in damage.

A fire in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benny Jones in Jackson Twp. left the family of five homeless.

It was announced that a family-type YMCA would open in Circleville.

Circleville Bible College completed its second campus building and the first dormitory to be opened on the Lancaster Pike campus.

The season's heaviest snowfall dumped nearly eight inches of snow on the Pickaway County area Jan. 14.

Pickaway County solons appropriated a budget of nearly $2 million for operation of the local government during 1968.

FEBRUARY

Former CHS grid star, James E. Starkey, died at the age of 35 in a Cleveland Hospital.

One week after assuming his new duties as Circleville Safety Director, Dr. H. H. Shuttleworth resigned. Robert E. Adkins was appointed to fill the vacant post.

Historic Logan Elm stump

was burned by vandals.

Pickaway Countians overwhelmingly responded to a plea for blood donors during a visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile; 220 prospective donors appeared; 203 pints of blood were collected in the most ever collected in a visit here.

Circleville Fire Department's new fire truck, a $31,700 pumper was delivered to the local station.

MARCH

Circleville High School

basketball coach Charles Hill submitted his resignation to the Board of Education, both as a coach and as a teacher. He came to Circleville in 1963.

A sapling from historic Logan Elm was planted in the park near the charred stump of the historic tree by Goode's Nursery. The sapling was a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Boyer, 1095 S. Washington St.

Williamsport News

By EILEEN EASTERDAY — Phone 986-3481

A visit with Mrs. Agnes Brayshaw the other evening developed into a German lesson since she had received so many holiday greetings from Germany. Their cards are quite different from the type we are accustomed to sending. The greeting is printed on very thin — almost onion-skin like paper — and the sender uses it more as stationery.

It also costs like the 'dickens' to mail a card from there to here so economics dictates writing more than just a signature and write they do. All in German and Grandma B knows her mother tongue well even after 62 years. She also knows her adapted language extremely well and this mostly by self-education since her formal schooling over here consisted of little more than one year.

Quiet New Year

A quick check around town found that most families planned to spend the evening quietly at home — most concurred with Cliff and Shirley Bowser who said they intended to rest up so they could cheer long and loud for Ohio State, Wednesday. Wouldn't it be terrific if they caught a glimpse of mom and dad, Jack and Ellen Dunlap, who are in the midst of all the festivities Jack being an OSU trustee, they flew out Saturday on the official plane and are staying at the same lodgings as the football team. Calling back home Saturday night to report their safe arrival, they had to help set the Bowser timepieces. During the inclement weather their electricity had sputtered out and so the time was off — when papa Jack phoned the correct time was arrived at by the time out there and adding three hours — that's called setting your clocks the California way!

"Red" (Harold) and Frances Fry had cancelled their plans since the flu bug has "Red." Ruth Huff is another on the sick list so she and hubby Paul will sit by the fireside, too.

Curtis and Mildred Keller plan their annual party with members of Mildred's family as guests. They will come in from all directions — Laurelville, Kingston, Grove City, Circleville, Columbus, Williamsport. Pretty little Linda Keller is having a bit of trouble with infection in her knee. Linda was badly injured 18 months ago in an automobile accident on Route 22. She spent months in the hospital and has been a most courageous girl. This fall she returned to classes at Westfall High School but with this current problem, has had to be out again.

On the lighter side, handsome Larry Keller has placed that diamond on the third finger, left hand of lovely Ruth Christopher.

Chatted a while with Mrs. Patty Kuhn and was dismayed to learn her mother, Evelyn (Mrs. Norman) Leist has been in Riverside Methodist Hospital, Room 811, since before Christmas. Evelyn was home briefly for Christmas and will be home again for New Year's. Then back to the hospital.

Ray and Jean Valone (he is the V of V and Y Conscience) thought they would drive up to Columbus to welcome in 1969.

They and sons, John, David and Joey returned home Sunday after spending Christmas week with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swanson of Gerard, Pa., near Erie. (Jean's parents). Just before they left for Pa., Ray had flown to Orlando, Fla., on a sad mission indeed — his 20 year old nephew had been killed in an auto accident.

Jack and Patti Brayshaw had made plans to bring in the New Year with friends. Jim and Jeanine Hamman hoped to carry through their plans by going to Columbus. Ellevyn and Grace Hulse had no definite plans and Dr. Paul and Irma Fenstermaker were not too sure. However, with Rae, Becky, Nancy and Rick, all thirteen years and over, it's a safe bet the household will be fairly active.

Nancy, home from Otterbein, went skating with friends on the Lloyd Minor pond last Thursday — took a nasty tumble and has her left eye all cut, black and blue and even with an eye patch it does not detract from her natural prettiness.

John and Edna West figured they would rest up for the New Year. Their daughter Jeanette and her family, husband Jack, sons Brian, 6, and Craig, 5, daughter Lisa left Sunday, 8:30 a.m. for home in Florence, South Carolina, after a week's visit. Lisa celebrates her 4th birthday today (Monday, Dec. 30) Lisa had been with grandmothers and grandpop since Thanksgiving. It will take a few days to adjust.

Another "shindig" being planned was at Bud and Carol Grady's.

Akron-Bedford Man Held For Having Too Many Wives

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A 39-year-old man accused of being married to two women at the same time was bound over to the Cuyahoga County grand jury Monday on a bigamy charge by Bedford Municipal Court Judge Joseph A. Zingales.

Homer Ammons Jr., an Akron truck driver and Bedford painter, was released on $2,500 bond.

He was arrested last Friday when he arrived at his home in Bedford, where he lived with his wife, Barbara, and their 3-year-old daughter.

Police said Ammons had come from his home in Akron, where he lived with his wife, Caroline, and their two daughters, 14 and 12 years old.

He was tripped up by a charge account at a department store chain when a bill from the Akron branch of the store was sent to his Bedford home, police said.

Officers said he has been married to his Akron wife for 15 years and has worked in that city as a local truck driver. For the past five years he has been living with his wife in Bedford on weekends while holding down a painting job in that community, police said.

They added that Ammons told his wife in Bedford that he was spending his weekdays in Akron with a daughter by a previous marriage who was sick. There was a third marriage, but that ended in divorce in 1950, police said.

The warrant for Ammons' arrest was signed by his wife in Bedford after police discovered there was a Mrs. Ammons in Akron.

Group Plans

The demonstrators want to march with banners down the Nixon parade route in reverse, from the White House to the Capitol.

A "Counter-Inaugural Ball" also is planned. The Mobilization hopes to stage a rally on a section of the Ellipse, and to set up sound equipment.

On Inauguration day the demonstrators want an area of a block or so designated for them on the parade route—enough for an estimated 5,000 to 10,000 protesters with placards and banners. Negotiations for permits have begun with various federal agencies and District of Columbia offices. These apparently are still in the sparring stage.

When asked whether the Mobilization expected to find Washington authorities more amenable to such requests than Mayor Richard J. Daley's administration in Chicago, Davis replied: "Well, I'm sure that the last thing Mr. Nixon wants on the day of his inauguration is another Chicago."

Despite Noise, Lebanon Not Likely To Fight Israel

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanon's emotional politicians and editorial writers say their country's virtual neutrality in the Arab-Israeli conflict persisted in the flames at Beirut International Airport last Saturday night.

But Lebanon's shrewd merchants, whose Phoenician forebears were trading with the world before Christ was born, and experienced diplomatic observers expect no change in the Beirut government's policy of lip service to the Arab cause but little else.

Not since 1948, when the state of Israel was established, has Lebanon taken an active part in the Arab confrontation with the Jews next door.

Rarely has there been violence along Lebanon's hilly frontier with Israel, and former Foreign Minister Fouad Boutros recently admitted that security measures had been taken to prevent Palestinian guerrillas using the country as a base for raids into Israel.

Because nearly half of Lebanon's 2.5 million people are Arab Moslems, the government finds it necessary to give vocal support to the other Arab nations. But in the 1956 and 1967 Arab wars with Israel, Lebanon played no part. Last year during the war its troops were withdrawn from the frontier to protect Beirut's Jewish minority. An Israeli warplane crashed in Lebanese territory, and this was hailed as a tremendous triumph. But the Syrians shot the plane down.

Economically, Lebanon benefited from Israel's creation. Before 1948 the Palestinian port of Haifa handled much of the entrepot trade with the Arab world. When Haifa became part of Israel, Beirut took over the business.

With half of its population Christians and many of them pro-Western, the Lebanese government rarely has seen eye to eye with other Arab countries. It refused in 1958 to join either the United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria or the equally short-lived federation of Jordan and Iraq. That same year it called in U.S. Marines to put down an insurrection inspired by Egypt.

Saigon Troops Free U.S. Officer Held 5 Years By VC

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese army troops sweeping a thick jungle in the Mekong Delta today freed a U.S. Army officer who had been a prisoner of the Viet Cong for more than five years.

A U.S. spokesman said the American, a first lieutenant in the Special Forces, was in "satisfactory" condition despite his long captivity. But he was reported emaciated and tired.

A South Vietnamese army officer was reported freed at the same time, and both were flown to hospitals.

The American's identity was withheld until his next of kin are notified.

The U.S. Command said a patrol from the South Vietnamese 21st Division freed the American officer shortly after noon today. He was found in a camp in the wild, marshy U Minh forest about 150 miles southwest of Saigon.

The U Minh forest has long been a Viet Cong stronghold, and allied troops seldom penetrate it. There was no indication whether the South Vietnamese sweep had encountered any resistance.

The American lieutenant reportedly was captured in 1963 while serving as an adviser at a remote camp in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon.

Since American involvement in the war began in January 1961, only a handful of American prisoners have been rescued from Viet Cong camps. The U.S. Command does not know how many Americans may be held in jungle camps.

The Viet Cong has released a few American prisoners and offered before Christmas to release three enlisted men it captured within the past eight months. A team of U.S. negotiators was unable to arrange the release in a meeting Christmas Day with Viet Cong representatives, and another meeting is scheduled New Year's morning.

Little fighting was reported today, the second day of the Viet Cong's New Year's ceasefire, although U.S. and South Vietnamese forces were patrolling as vigorously as ever.

U.S. headquarters reported that two American helicopters were shot down by enemy ground fire Monday several hours after the Viet Cong ceasefire began. Both helicopters were destroyed, and two Americans were wounded. The losses raised to 970 the announced number of American helicopters shot down in South Vietnam.

Security Council Again Eyes Condemnation Of Israelis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Security Council condemnation of Israel for its commando attack on Beirut International Airport appeared imminent today, but most members shunned Arab and Soviet demands for strong punitive action.

Calls for sanctions and denial of landing permits to Israeli planes gained little support Monday night as the 15-nation council met in urgent session for the second time in 24 hours. The council adjourned at 1 a.m. after three hours of debate, and another meeting was scheduled for 3 p.m.

In Tel Aviv, the Israeli army reported that Arab guerrillas slipped into Israel from Lebanon early today, fired six bazooka rockets into a frontier settlement and escaped. The rockets damaged a water pipe and brought down an electric line, but no one was injured, an Israeli spokesman said. It was the first incident reported on the Israeli-Lebanese border since the Israeli attack on the Beirut airport Saturday night.

Three proposals for Security Council action were being considered in private negotiations among U.N. delegates:

1. Condemnation of Israel for the Beirut raid.
2. Condemnation plus economic sanctions, including cancellation of landing permits for Israeli planes at airports of U.N.

day of the new year is to be cold, but sunny, with a high in the 20s.

CITY school students will return to classes on a regular schedule beginning Thursday, Superintendent Fritz Jacobs announced today.

RESIDENTS of the Circleville area will join with people around the globe tonight in greeting another new year . . . Many will celebrate New Year's Eve with their families and friends at home . . . Parties have been planned by some while others will attend Watch Night church services . . . The recent outbreak of flu will no doubt be influential in causing some to spend a quiet evening at home.

Most stores and business places will close early tonight and remain closed for the holiday tomorrow along with all city, county and state offices. The post office, too, will observe a holiday schedule.

ALL 4-H club steer projects must be registered at the Pickaway County Agricultural Agent's office by Jan. 1. George Harmick reminded 4-Hers.

Last year there were 138 steer projects registered and most of them go to the fair . . . Pickaway County has one of the largest 4-H fat cattle shows in the state.

July, 1968 Saw Nuclear Treaty, Airline Slowdown

EDITOR'S NOTE—Following is the seventh of 12 articles on The Year That Was—a review of the events that made 1968 a unique news year.

By JOY STILLEY
Associated Press Writer

There was new hope in the world as July began.

A Nuclear Nonproliferation Treaty, of 25 years duration, was signed July 1 in simultaneous ceremonies at Washington, Moscow and London.

Some 61 nations were signatories to the treaty aimed at halting the spread of nuclear power: France refused to sign, although she agreed to abide by its provisions.

Dear Abby: Minister Neighbor Needs Brush-Off

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are perfectly happy, but we have a problem with a neighbor who is a minister.

It all started last January when he tried to get us to promise we'd visit his church. We never said we'd go, but he kept inviting us to the various activities and sending us bulletins of what was going on in the church. We never attended any of them.

In July we had a tragedy. We lost our first baby at 7 months. This minister came to the hospital and told me that God had taken our baby in order to get our attention and make us go to church. He left us

Fake $20 Bills Being Passed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Hundreds of counterfeit $20 bills are expected to be circulated in Greater Cleveland area today and tonight, the U.S. Attorney's Office warned Monday.

"In recent weeks counterfeit notes amounting to $50,000 have been passed in the Greater Cleveland area," said Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert L. Turoff.

"Merchants should refuse to accept any $20 bill that looks the least bit suspicious."

He said that gangs responsible for passing the notes are expected to be out in force New Year's Eve when money usually changes hands rapidly at night clubs and other entertainment spots.

Saxbe To Quit Post Thursday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe will resign from his post Thursday and former Ohio Supreme Court Justice Paul W. Brown will be sworn in as the new attorney general on Saturday.

Saxbe left Monday night for Washington, where he will replace Frank Lausche as one of Ohio's U.S. Senators.

Saxbe spent much of Monday saying goodbye to his staff and friends. He said he did not think that Lausche would resign to give Saxbe a slight edge on seniority at the Senate.

Brown was appointed by Gov. James A. Rhodes to fill Saxbe's unexpired term. He had served on the high court since 1964.

Fishwatch

LISBON (AP)—The Portuguese Air Force is going fishing.

Squadrons of Air Force planes have been called to the rescue of fishermen in southern Portugal who are having trouble locating sufficient sardine and tuna fish schools.

The catch of the two species is the most important activity of the southern provinces, and it has been on the decrease.

After a request from fishing industrialists, the Air Force sent twin-engine propeller craft to study fish migration patterns. The unprecedented search is expected to be extended outside territorial waters eventually.

as "the most important international agreement since the beginning of the nuclear age," it was designed to restrict the possession of nuclear weapons to the United States, the Soviet Union, Great Britain, France and Red China, while allowing other countries to develop nuclear devices for peaceful purposes.

Such countries would be protected by the United States, Russia and Britain should one of them come under nuclear attack.

More encouraging still was an announcement by the United States and the Soviet Union that they would begin talks "in the nearest future" on limiting offensive and defensive nuclear missiles systems.

Meanwhile, after a decade of intermittent negotiations, regular commercial air service began between Moscow and New York.

This was a bright spot in the aviation picture, but traveling by air became not necessarily the fastest way to get there during the peak vacation period.

Early in the month, air traffic controllers had launched a by-the-book safety campaign that slowed service still further while planes circled the overcrowded skies above major airports. Not only were the passen-

Sidney Sailor Gets Chance To Marry

Aberdeen, Scotland (AP)—A 24-year-old Sidney, Navy man received a special marriage license Monday and will be able to marry his Scotch sweetheart today.

Daniel Braun, stationed in Morocco, was unable to satisfy the statutory residence qualification for a normal marriage license.

Following his successful plea Braun and Margaret Murphy, 21, left the court to purchase wedding clothes and a cake.

gers unhappy, trapped for hours in holding patterns, but so were waiting families and friends.

Hearings and discussions by Congress, the Federal Aviation Administration, the Civil Aeronautics Board and airlines officials resulted in an FAA proposal for federal regulations to limit arrivals at major airports and to close the fields to most small planes during peak traffic periods.

Another aspect of the aviation news was a rise in aircraft piracy.

On July 1, 91 passengers aboard a plane flying from Minneapolis to Miami became the month's first victims of an armed fellow traveler. Two weeks later a jet carrying 64 persons from Los Angeles to Miami was captured over Texas by a self-described Castro agent and forced to fly to Havana. He kept control even during a tense refueling stop at New Orleans.

The political pot continued to boil and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy squelched rumors, hopes and predictions by declaring that he would not be available for the vice presidential spot on the Democratic ticket.

To many the most personally meaningful event of the month was the encyclical, issued July 29, in which Pope Paul reaffirmed the Roman Catholic ban on birth control by any artificial means, a pronouncement that sparked demonstrations and protests from both laymen and clergy.

Dollar Controls

Not surprisingly, the Johnson administration has approved a balance-of-payments program that continues practically unchanged this year's restrictive policy on foreign fiscal transactions.

Also as expected, the incoming administration was advised to accept the program as "an adequate follow-through in the ongoing process of disinflation, restoration of our competitive position and provision of a healthy trade surplus."

The Federal Reserve Board at the same time announced that its 1969 ceiling on foreign loans by United States banks will be maintained at the current tight level. As an aid to achieving a favorable trade balance, the board, however, indicated greater flexibility might be provided for financing exports, mainstay of the dollar's strength abroad.

The purpose of the restrictions is to reduce substantially or eliminate entirely the deficit in the international payments account, which for years has been running in red ink. As part of this policy, the Johnson administration earlier this year imposed, for the first time in the nation's history, mandatory controls on overseas investment.

The controls were sharply criticized by President-elect Nixon during his campaign — and deservedly so because they tend to discourage the expansion of export trade.

Former Treasury Secretary Fowler, who headed Mr. Johnson's cabinet committee on the payments balance, reported, however, just before his resignation became effective that the controls cannot be terminated in 1969 without "grave risk" of deepening the payments deficit.

Although Mr. Nixon urged during his campaign that the controls be ended "as soon as possible," he apparently will give the problem greater consideration after he takes office. Maurice Stans, his choice for commerce secretary, last week said he would need more facts before deciding what to suggest.

The facts thus far indicate the controls are at best a palliative. They may have kept the imbalance from getting worse, but they have not stimulated a healthy, natural balance.

Military Pay

To those who remember getting paid $21 a month, a proposed new pay scale for the armed forces will seem like pie from the sky.

Under the new schedule, rookies would get $119.40 a month. The top enlisted grade would be worth $15,525 a year, although many an underpaid GI of World War II might have doubts that any non-com is ever worth that kind of money.

Similar inducements are proposed for the officer corps. Second lieutenants would start at $8,144 and could aspire to the $50,000 proposed for chiefs of staff. The idea behind the proposals is to encourage the military as a career.

The recommendations are consistent with other inflationary proposals being mulled on Capitol Hill, including $50,000 salaries for Congress and similar increases for various federal officials. But so long as shooting wars remain, the man who has to carry the gun is not likely to want a piece of the action for the money in it.

Laff-A-Day

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

MOST UNLIKELY story of the week comes from a Chicago theater lover who flew to JFK Airport and told a taxi driver there, "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead." Step on it." The driver took him to Campbell's Funeral Parlor.

Creston Munger would have us know that the greatest baseball pitcher ever produced in northern New York State bore the name of Milt Fama. Milt pitched eleven no-hit games in a single season, and furthermore, his control was so uncanny that he didn't issue a single base on balls in sixty-four consecutive games. A remarkable feat!

Came the last game of the season, however, when Milt was called upon to win the pennant by defeating the opposing nine, tied for the league lead, when the rival manager exuded strange confidence. To the consternation of the home fans, Milt Fama walked the first nine batters to face him—and down the drain went the championship.

"Nothing to it," boasted the rival manager in the clubhouse later. "I took good old Milt out to dinner last night and conned him into drinking fourteen cans of beer." The manager had saved the cans as proof of his story—and now he proudly exhibited them. "Here," he crowed, "is the beer that made Milt Fama walk us!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

To live to be one hundred years old is a remarkable accomplishment. More and more, because of the wonders of modern medicine, both men and women now frequently attain the title of centenarian.

Unless the added years of longevity are associated with personal happiness and by living in complete dignity, they can be a burden rather than a gift. It is for this reason that social advances must keep pace with scientific progress to add blissful years rather than burdensome ones.

When one attains this wonderful age, a man or woman has the right for a moment at least, to become an authority and explain exactly why it happened. That explanation varies from a life of no tobacco to one that includes 14 cigars a day. It may or may not include a daily pint of ice cream or a daily pint of alcohol. It may also include a diet of special herbs, techniques of cooking and special climates. Whatever the explanation is, the centenarian has the right, for that day at least, to become a medical expert, a social philosopher and a prognosticator for the future.

There need not be any explanation. Rather should there be some evidence that a full life was filled with accomplishment and freed from the forces of fear that interfere with personal productivity, security, and one's contribution to society.

I had the pleasure of interviewing four people who made the turn into the second century and was delighted by their general professional attitudes that all people should live their lives rather than die their lives in fear, conflict and confusion. There seemed to be universal agreement among them that anxious periods in their lives, in the lives of their family, in the lives of our nation, were temporary and could be kept in control if they themselves were not destroyed by that anxiety.

One of my favorite responses came from a frail, but intellectually alert woman, who seemed to be starting the second century with great hope for mankind. She felt that living one's life completely is a delicate art since no period in her life was ever free of some problem or the need for important decisions.

There are many who at younger ages believe in the unrealistic attitude that peace of mind and inner security come only by avoiding problems. This is untrue. The real tranquility of emotions comes in a mature way by knowing that problems have existed, do exist, and will always exist. Real security lies in the ability to come face to face with these problems and solve them without hiding in the fantasy that they do not exist.

Confident knowledge that one has solved problems, and will solve the new ones, gives one a great sense of personal security. There is no chronological age for maturity and for the capacity to solve these personal, social and family problems. Within all of us lies a great deal of reserve which when called upon helps carry us over through the periods of stress that might otherwise be unbearable.

I have repeatedly written in my columns that it is no shame to have a psychological problem or an emotional upset in this angry, rushing, frenetic world. When these occur, at any age, they should be brought out into the open and treated with complete honesty, in order to insure the fact that fruitful years will not be burdened by psychological distress. Living to one hundred years can only be happy if one lives to one hundred.

Fatigue is nature's warning that it is being overtaxed.

San Diego Notes Its 200th Year

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A 200-gun salute at noon Wednesday opens San Diego's 200th anniversary celebration. A year-long list of hundreds of events is planned.

Eighty guns at the North Island Naval Air Station will be fired at once, along with 40 guns each at the Marine Corps recruit depot, the Naval training center and the Naval amphibious base.

At midnight tonight, Roman Catholic sisters at the old Mission San Diego de Alcalá will ring the mission's bells. The city was founded by Father Junipero Serra in 1769.

A Few Heroes In 1968

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The year 1968 will hardly be added to that song about very good years. It was a very bad year almost everywhere. For a nation that is supposedly "under law," the U.S., with its rioting, trespassing, libelling, and general nastiness, presented a frequently unlovely spectacle. The French had their comparable troubles. The UN slapped Rhodesia on the wrist, and inveighed against South Africa for its apartheid policies, but it did nothing about the genocidal war raging in Nigeria, where mass starvation threatens a whole generation of Biafran children, and when the Russians violated the border integrity of Czechoslovakia the dear old UN looked discreetly the other way.

The 1968 list of things to be deplored might be extended to cover Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford's stupid attack on the South Vietnamese leaders for insisting that procedural matters are important when setting the stage for a peace conference. Apparently Clark Clifford has never read the record of what has happened at Panmunjom, where our negotiators seeking to end Korean troubles have discovered by painful trial and error that the East considers procedural victories a sure key to substantive surrender by the enemy. For our New Year's greeting to Clark Clifford, we suggest that he read Rudyard Kipling's lines:

And the end of the fight is a thornstone white with the name of the late deceased, And the epitaph dears, "A fool lies here who tried to hustle the East."

Even in the worst of times, however, individuals are capable of transcending the general drift to "Chaos and old Night." There must have been at least a thousand commentators who were willing to condemn Mayor Daley's Chicago police in toto and en masse before making any effort to learn about the plans for provocation that were drawn up by New Left groups in New York City during the spring.

Alice Widener, the publisher of USA Magazine, has written a pamphlet that thoroughly documents the disruptive planning to taunt the "pigs" into "police riots." But that is not what we want to talk about here; what interests us for the last day of the old year is to celebrate the behavior of a hero. Richard Aronovitz, president of the Student Senate at the University of Connecticut. When Homer Babbidge, the UConn president, asked for police protection for campus business recruiters, the Connecticut State police, complying with the law, read the riot act to the New Leftist contingent that was on hand and hoping to stop the recruiters from exercising their rights of free speech.

When the UConn Student Senate met to consider what should be done about the presence of police on the campus, a majority sought to censure the cops. But Aronovitz, as president of the Senate, stood up and said it was wrong to censure anybody without first hearing his story. The police had read the riot act as was legally required, and they were entitled to explain their reasons for doing this before any censure vote was in order. Aronovitz explained his stand over TV — and in reward for his insistence on legal niceties he was denied re-entry to his own Student Senate.

Besides Aronovitz, another man who deserves to be singled out for praise in parlous times is Paul E. Fuller, city editor of the Somerset Daily American, which serves a community of 7,000 in central Pennsylvania. Mr. Fuller has on his staff a twenty-year-old named Robert Peck. On a Saturday night Peck happened to be in an apartment with four other young men when police broke in and charged all five with violation of the narcotics act. Peck was held under $5,000 bail and released the following day. Appearing in his office for work after posting the bond, the young reporter told his city editor that he was innocent. As a sufferer from an allergy, Peck had two blue prescription pills, along with two aspirin tablets, in a combination bracelet and pill container. When he couldn't produce a dated prescription for the blue pills, he was arrested and subsequently held for grand jury action.

The heartening pay-off is that City Editor Fuller, who believes that a man is innocent under the law until he has been proved guilty, sent Robert Peck out to cover the story of his own arrest. "He covers court," said Fuller, who has stood up to the criticism of local readers who would have preferred to read a story about Peck's dismissal.

As long as there are such people as Richard Aronovitz and City Editor Fuller in America, we are in fair shape. Tomorrow may mark the beginning of a better year.

ALASKA SENATOR—Theodore F. Stevens (above), a Republican, was appointed by Gov. Walter Hickel to fill the U.S. Senate seat vacated by death of E. L. Bartlett, a Democrat. The Business World

By LISA CRONIN (For John Cunniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — Competition and making money took second place to helping others when a group of business and financial leaders were asked to suggest New Year's resolutions for everyone.

"I would hope that everyone resolves to do his utmost to see what private business can do to help further the cause of equal opportunity for black people and other underprivileged people in the United States," said Hobart Lewis, president of the Reader's Digest.

Muriel Siebert, the only woman ever elected to membership in the New York Stock Exchange, urged people to "sit down and realize where they started from and help other people get somewhere."

"There are two things—making money and leading a good life," said this self-made woman. "Part of leading a good life is helping people."

"If we all resolve to listen more carefully to what the other fellow is saying—in business, in relationships with other countries, with our children and young people, with our disadvantaged and disaffected fellow citizens—we'll have a better year in 1969," said Louis F. Laun, president of Celanese Fibers Marketing Co.

Uniroyal Inc. president and chairman George R. Vila tackled what some people consider the nation's top economic problem.

"If the average man will resolve to make his efforts in 1969 just five per cent more productive than they have been, he will make an extremely valuable individual contribution to the fight against inflation," he said.

"Time is running out on us," warned Paul Hoffman, who heads the United Nations Development Program. The former Marshall Plan chief called 1969 a crucial year in "the war on poverty of opportunity."

Proper self-management was stressed by Charles S. Jensen, president of C.I.T. Corp., industrial financing and leasing subsidiary of C.I.T. Financial Corp. "Every businessman should resolve to strike a proper balance among his various responsibilities—his business, his family, his community and his other obligations," Jensen said.

Cartier Inc. President Joseph Liebman resolved to "humanize our business in such a way so that our customers will feel how grateful we are for their presence."

"It's elegant enough just to be human," the head of the Fifth Avenue jeweler said.

Cecil L. Wright, president of J.C. Penney Co., urged consumers to continue to be "demanding in quality, fashion, and service."

"This will help keep us on our toes," he said. "In case we fall short of our goals, we want to know about it."

The Year '68 Packed With Drama, Emotion For Women

For Some, There Was Joy

For Others, Only Sorrow

GRIEF IS THE LOT OF WIDOWS . . . With dignity and courage two wives mourn their assassinated husbands, Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy (left) and Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. Sen. Kennedy was shot June 5 in Los Angeles. Dr. King, civil rights leader and Nobel Prize winner for peace, was killed in Memphis April 4.

"That was the year when . . ."

It will be remembered, 1968, just that way. A year in which so much happened, a cranky, crazy, sometimes tragic year, full of public drama and private courage.

It was the year when women often had to make choices, whether it was to bear (the pill controversy), to bare (the see-through fashions) or just bear up (the high cost of living.) Many women marched, picketed, protested, struck — about the war, their jobs, their principles, their children's education.

It was the year when assassinations of two national leaders left two gallant wives to carry on alone — Mrs. Robert Kennedy to bring her 11th child into a fatherless world, Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. to continue to work for her husband's civil rights dreams.

It was the year that made so many other widows — from war casualties, mine cave-ins or atomic submarine disasters — often their suffering prolonged unbearably by uncertainty and days of waiting and hoping.

It was the year when Jackie Kennedy stepped down from the lonely pedestal upon which an admiring public had set her, and married. The 39-year-old widow of assassinated President John F. Kennedy started the world by marrying Aristotle Onassis, a divorced, very rich Greek of 62.

It was the year that produced a new First Lady-to-be, Mrs. Richard M. Nixon, who has a hard act to follow when her husband becomes President Jan. 20. Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson has spent the last five years in the White House working indefatigably to beautify America and promote Headstart and other projects in the Great Society program, as well as serve as a source of dependable strength for the President.

1968 U.N. General Assembly.

In politics, Frances P. Bolton, 83, Republican Congresswoman from Ohio since 1940, was defeated for reelection. Coming to Congress in January will be its first Negro woman member, Mrs. Shirley Chisholm, 44 and 99 pounds, a Democrat from Brooklyn, N. Y. In the entertainment field several women emerged: Aretha Franklin, 26, became the unchallenged queen of soul music; actress Faye Dunaway, 27, of "Bonnie and Clyde" became the star of the year; singer Barbara Streisand, 26, made her first motion picture "Funny Girl" a resounding success.

At the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City Debbie Meyer, 16, Sacramento, Calif., high school junior, won three gold medals in swimming: the 200, 400 and 800 meter freestyle events.

Penny Ann Early, 25, Chicago divorcee, wanted to be the first woman jockey to ride at a major American track. She was given a temporary jockey's license at Churchill Downs, but the male jockeys boycotted the race in which she was assigned a mount, thereby scratching Penny Ann's chances.

Notable firsts: The U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., named its first woman to the faculty, ending a 166-year no-female tradition. She is Mrs. Elizabeth Matthew Lewis, 50, who will teach academy's first course in art history.

The British Commonwealth appointed its first woman governor, Dr. Hilda Bynoe, 46, practicing physician and mother of two teen-age sons. She is governor of Grenada, 133-square mile island in the British West Indies' Windwards.

The Temple Judea in Coral Gables, Fla., elected Mrs. Rita Shore, a member of the professional choir, its regular cantor. The congregation believes that she is the first paid woman cantor in the country.

Singer Marian Anderson, 66, got her first doctorate from a Southern university — she already had 25 honorary degrees — when Tulane presented her with the first doctorate of humane letters it has given a Negro.

The National Education Association with a million-plus membership got its first Negro president, Mrs. Libby Koonz, 49, poised and pretty classroom teacher from Salsbury, N. C.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A program like NBC's two-hour treatment Monday night of the ferment in big-city slums by Negro minorities may have run into an audience problem by its meticulous, careful presentation.

On one hand, persons concerned about this aspect of urban crisis are well aware of the conditions which the long program painstakingly discussed and illustrated. They have been written about and many other television programs have told of them. Their audience must now be more interested in possible cures than in another report on symptoms. On the other hand, the public which is not informed on the subject by now probably would not sit still for such a lengthy and often painful lecture.

"The People are the City," one of a series of three "white papers," focused primarily on racial barriers and resulting tensions in Boston, whose population is about 10 per cent Negro. The program moved to other cities to illustrate a point when some leaders of the city's Negro community refused to cooperate.

Prof. Charles Hamilton, a Negro and a political scientist, explained that "black people have gotten fed up with white people coming in and trying to tell their story through white eyes."

The program explored the difficult employment situation, the widespread breakdown of education and housing. It showed some successful experimental work in progress—a demonstration school in Rochester, N.Y., a project to train and hire Negroes in Detroit's automobile factories. It examined the fragmentation and various viewpoints within the Negro communities. With considerable sympathy, it looked at the difficult position of city officials, from mayor to the policeman on a slum beat—"an outsider enforcing the rules," narrator Frank McGee described the latter.

Black-white relationships are far too tangled, too complicated and too controversial to do more than touch a few obvious bases in a two-hour program. This presentation was very talky, but raised no new issues and action to enliven it was in the often imaginative camera work.

There were the familiar scenes of street disturbances—negro crowds shouting at the NBC cameras attempting to take shots for the series. There was film of squalid living conditions, the troubled faces of the victims of poverty.

The two hours were spent raising complex questions to which there are many suggested answers. And the program ended with a big question asked by Hamilton: Will the white majority "see the dissension as something healthy or simply as a contentious outcry of a lonely and depressed people?"

Many women made news during the year:

Actress Patricia Neal, 42, made her first movie since suffering a near-fatal series of strokes three years ago. The American Heart Association awarded her its Heart-of-the-Year prize for her "faith, courage and achievement in meeting the personal challenge of cardiovascular disease."

Mrs. Jon O. Epperson, former high school biology teacher in Little Rock, Ark., now living in Maryland, won a U.S. Supreme Court decision declaring unconstitutional an Arkansas law prohibiting public school teaching of evolution.

Mrs. Betty Hughes, 46, wife of New Jersey Gov. Richard Hughes, signed herself in as an outpatient at the Walter Kemper Clinic at Duke University hospital, Durham, N. C., last July at 230 pounds. At year's end she had dropped almost 95 pounds, was down to a glamorous size 12, and had managed to keep her good humor and sparkling personality intact.

As some Roman Catholic nuns continued to seek freer, more flexible religious lives for themselves, these women made news: Sister Mary Corita Kent, 50, probably the country's best known nun through her colorful art, resigned from the Sisters of the Immaculate Heart of Mary, after agonizing over the decision for six months.

Sister Ghislaine Rouquet of Canada became the first nun to serve as a delegate to the United Nations General Assembly. The Holy Cross nun is chairman of the philosophy department at Montreal's Basile Moreau College.

On the international scene Mrs. Indira Gandhi continued as the only woman prime minister, trying to solve the many problems of India.

Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, 41, and 41, a member of the central committee of the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong, was named to head the delegation to the Paris Vietnam peace talks.

Outspoken, colorful Angie Brooks, 40, a United Nations delegate from Liberia since she was 26, was virtually assured of election to the presidency of

Highway Work Forecast Given

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Highway Director P. E. Masheter said Monday that Ohio will have $430 million in highway construction work under contract in 1969.

Masheter reported that the state had contracted $436 million of highway work for 1968.

The director said 1968 construction in Ohio was troubled by federal fund cuts, a federal freeze on spending and delays of several months in northeastern Ohio because of stiffer employment practices instituted by the U.S. Department of Labor and the Department of Transportation.

HIS NECK IS OUT—Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., takes a telephone call in his Washington office after setting a congressional precedent—announcing candidacy for House speaker. Udall, 46, elected to a fifth term, wants to unseat 77-year-old Rep. John W. McCormack, D-Mass. It's a kind of Wallace-for-president-like move.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Weather bureau summary for Ohio:
Cloudy skies and mild temperatures prevailed over most of the state Monday night. Temperatures generally ranged from the middle 30s to the lower 40s but started to plunge over western counties about 3 a. m.
Temperatures will continue to fall rapidly throughout the state and will be near zero by Wednesday morning. Cold wave warnings have been issued. The large mass of arctic air which dropped into the plains states during the last two days turned rapidly east Monday evening. Its eastward progress had been blocked by a low pressure area moving from Texas into the middle Mississippi Valley.

A few showers are expected in the vicinity of the cold front today, with light snow flurries developing late today. The snow flurries are only expected to be numerous near Lake Erie and through the counties east of Cleveland.

FORECASTS
OHIO—Cold wave warnings, turning much colder today and tonight. Snow flurries ending this afternoon except northeast where they will persist through tonight. Temperatures falling to the upper teens extreme northeast to the lower 20s elsewhere by evening and to zero to 8 above throughout the state by late tonight. Wednesday partly cloudy with a few snow flurries extreme north and mostly sunny elsewhere. Colder Wednesday.

NORTHWEST OHIO—Cold wave warning. Temperatures falling to the upper teens and low 20s by evening and to zero to 6 above tonight. Partly sunny and cold Wednesday, high 16-23.
SOUTHWEST OHIO—Cold wave warnings. Much colder and rather windy tonight followed by clearing. Temperatures falling to the lower 20s by late tonight. Mostly sunny but colder on Wednesday, high in the lower to middle 20s.

CENTRAL, SOUTHEAST, EAST CENTRAL OHIO—Cold wave warning. Turning much colder tonight with temperatures falling into the lower 20s by evening and to zero to 8 above by late tonight. Mostly sunny but colder on Wednesday, high in the lower to middle 20s.

Four Students Picked As Mustang Seniors Of Week

By CHERYL COTTRILL and BRENDA SCHLEICH

Westfall's four seniors of the week are Sherry Bilek, Jill Barthen, Bob Barnes and Eugene Osborn.

Sherry is 16 and resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bilek, at Route 2, Williamsport. She is enrolled in the college prep course of study.

She is president of the FNA, chaplain of the National Honor Society, and a member of the GAA, Art Club, newspaper staff and Pep Club.

Sherry likes horses and school. She dislikes sardonic people, people who dislike farmers and lazy people.

After graduation, she plans to attend Ohio State University and major in agriculture and later become a veterinarian.

Jill is 17 and resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barthen, at Route 1, Orient. She is enrolled in the college prep course of study.

She is a member of the student council, where she is secretary-treasurer. She is the publicity chairman of GAA and treasurer of the French Club. She is also a member of the newspaper staff, art club and pep club.

Jill enjoys swimming, sewing, basketball, ice skating, hunting and "tuff" clothes. She dislikes long school hours, lazy people and unfair teachers.

After graduation, Jill plans to

New Student At Westfall

MARY JOHNSON

By TONY LIGHTLE

Recently a new student enrolled at Westfall. The new student, Mary Johnson, came to us from Logan Elm High School. Mary had also attended Mt. Sterling High School the previous year.

Mary lives on the Circleville-London-Northern Road. She has five sisters and four brothers. Mary's favorite like is psychedelic music.

Mary would like to say "hi" to all her old friends at Logan Elm and wish them a happy New Year.

attend college.

Bob is 18 and resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barnes at Route 1, Williamsport. He is enrolled in the college prep course of study.

He is vice president of the student council. He is also a member of Varsity "W", FBLA, cross country and basketball team.

His likes include mini-skirts, long hair, movies and parties. His dislikes are the draft, homework, cold weather and shaving.

After graduation, Bob plans to attend college.

Eugene is 18 and resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Osborn, at Route 1, New Holland. He is enrolled in the college prep course of study.

He is the president of the National Honor Society. He also is a member of the FFA, the Science Club and newspaper staff.

Eugene likes cars, girls, sports, hunting, fishing, farming and school.

After graduation he plans to

Nancy Keller Is Mustang Cheerleader

NANCY KELLER

By SUZANNE STEINHAUSER

Nancy Keller, a junior, is the Westfall Varsity Cheerleader of the week.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Keller, she resides with her family at Route 1, Clarksburg.

Not only does she have the experience of being a Mustang cheerleader for the past three years, but also has had good participation in many outside extracurricular activities such as band, stage band, FFA, GAA, and cheerleading. She is not enrolled in any particular course, just a variety of college prep, business and home economics courses.

When asked to comment on the new Mustang Varsity uniforms, Nancy stated, "I think they're really sharp!"

Little Bits

By SHERRY BILEK

The annual staff held their Christmas party Saturday night at the home of Donna Garrison. Annuals are now on sale at $3.50, but all that is needed to order one is a down payment of $1.50. As a special service, your name will be printed on the cover for only an additional fifty cents.

Girls basketball practice started Thursday with approximately 45 girls trying out for positions on the varsity and reserve teams. The coach this year is Mrs. Ogle. We hope to play some Scioto Valley Conference schools this year.

Thursday was Senior Dish Day at Westfall. Mr. Massie allowed all of the seniors in "B" lunch to go to the head of the lunch line, and beat the teachers out for once. This is a privilege that all underclassmen look forward to.

The Student Council is sponsoring another Creative Writing Contest in January, with essays being judged this time. First prize is $5; second, $3; and third, $2. This is a quick and easy way to make money.

The National Honor Society recently sent out its semi-annual alumni bulletin. These are news sheets telling of big events at Westfall, sent to keep the alumni up on their Alma Mater.

There will be no basketball games during Christmas vacation, but one will be played Dec. 4, at Union. This will be a Scioto Valley Conference game, so all Mustangs be sure to come.

We who work on the school news for the local newspaper wish to wish all the students at Westfall a very Merry Christmas and an equally happy New Year.

Mr. Tracy Is WHS Freshman Cage Coach

MR. JEFF TRACY

By TONY LIGHTLE

The freshman basketball coach is Mr. Jeff Tracy of Route 2, Orient. Mr. Tracy graduated from Texas A-I, where he lettered on the varsity rodeo team.

Here at Westfall, Mr. Tracy teaches metal shop, mechanical drawing and blueprint reading.

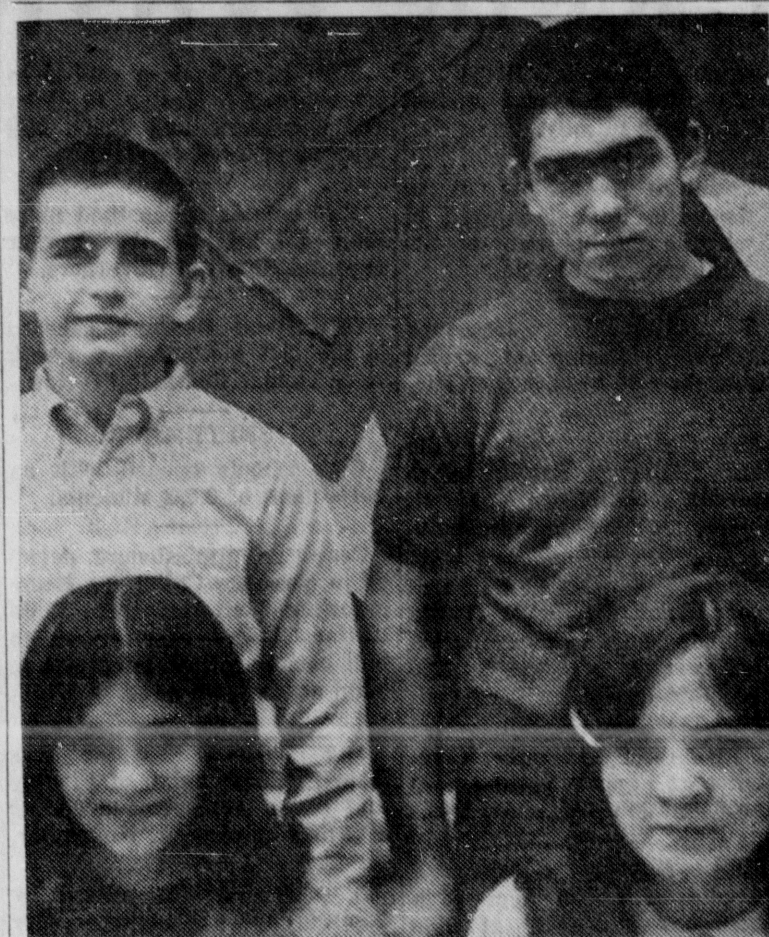

This is Mr. Tracy's first try at coaching basketball. So far their record is 1-5, but he plans to see a lot of improvement.

Mr. Tracy would also like to enter his team in a freshman tournament if any can be found.

4 Students Win Poster Contest

By SHERRY BILEK

Freshmen English classes, under the guidance of Mrs. Marian Radcliff, recently held poster contests in conjunction with the classes they are having on entomology, or the study of the history of words. The object of the posters was to show the history and definition of the word in an original manner.

The entries were impartially judged by two of Westfall's English teachers, Miss Carol Nelson and Mr. Jon Wilson.

The winners selected were Jan Thompson, first; Phil Karn, second; Chris Pickering, third; and Larry Harris, fourth.

These students received dictionaries and books of synonyms for their prize winning posters.

LINDA STECK

By EUGENE OSBORN

Miss Linda L. Steck is a new addition to the faculty of Westfall. She currently resides at Route 1, Williamsport, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Steck.

Miss Steck graduated from Williamsport High School. After graduation, she continued her education at Morehead State University in Kentucky, where she majored in elementary education, but later changed to vocational home economics. This is Miss Steck's first year of teaching vocational home economics at Westfall.

Miss Steck grew up on a farm and still enjoys helping around the farm. Being a home economics teacher, Miss Steck was asked if she had any ideas to change Westfall, and she stated that she would like to see a co-educational program started in home economics.

Burglars Escape At Sharonville

CINCINNATI (AP) — Three burglars were surprised by the returning occupants of a suburban Sharonville apartment they were ransacking Monday but escaped in a wooded area after one of them fired at an approaching police cruiser.

The shot passed harmlessly by the vehicle.

So hasty was their exit from the Colonial Gardens apartment that one of the trio lost a shoe, officers said.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin O'Cull said they had just returned home when they surprised the men in their apartment—who then scrambled through a window.

New Gold Rush

GOIS, Portugal (AP) — There's a gold rush atmosphere in this small village in the center of Portugal.

A gold streak was found nearby, would-be prospectors are flocking to the local registration offices and the town is dreaming of boom times.

Local inhabitants are hoping the find does as much for the town as the discovery of tungsten here did 30 years ago.

This is not the first time gold has been found in these parts. There is even a gold mine near Gois, but the company that owns it discontinued mining long ago because of the small profits.

Now the word is that the new discovery can lead to considerable exploitation, and might even prove important for the national economy.

Is your water half-soft,
half-hard?

Many families on the tank-exchange plan really have half-soft, half-hard water.

This may be true in your home.

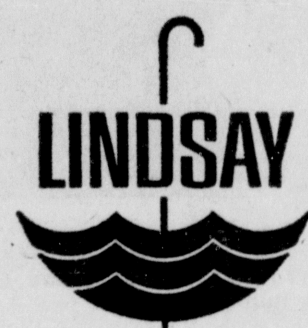

Many tank exchange water softeners are connected only to hot water outlets. So, while the hot water tap delivers the benefits of soft water, the cold taps are completely hard.

This means stains under the cold water taps, stains in the tubs and toilets. It means that when you take a bath, you are bathing in half-soft, half-hard water.

Worst of all, it means that when you and your daughters shampoo, your hair is stringy, dull and hard to manage.

Bruins Easy Top Choice In AP's Basketball Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The powerful UCLA Bruins, winners of the ECAC Holiday Festival in New York, return home to Los Angeles this week with their unbeaten slate intact and with a new challenger for their No. 1 ranking in The Associated Press' college basketball poll.

The latest No. 2 team is Davidson, also undefeated, and a replacement for North Carolina, which tumbled to fourth place after being upset by St. John's of New York in the Madison Square Garden tournament's semifinal round.

UCLA, which downed the Redmen 74-56 in the ECAC final Monday night, collected all 40 votes for first place in the latest balloting by sports writers and broadcasters based on games through last Saturday. The Bruins had defeated Providence and Princeton to reach the final round.

Davidson advanced one notch after downing Maryland and Texas last week while Kentucky, a 110-90 winner over Notre Dame, also climbed one position to third.

UCLA's next game is at home against Tulane Saturday night. Davidson next takes on Michigan Tuesday and then St. John's of New York Saturday. Kentucky plays Wisconsin Tuesday and Mississippi Saturday and North Carolina's next start is against Duke Saturday.

The most rapid advances in the poll's Top Ten were made by Kansas, Santa Clara, Detroit and Illinois. Kansas, in fifth place and Santa Clara, sixth, each soared three places while Detroit and Illinois both moved up four places to seventh and eighth, respectively.

Villanova, beaten by North Carolina in the Holiday Festival's opening round, slipped from fifth to ninth and Cincinnati, winner over North Texas in its only game last week, remained in 10th spot.

Duquesne, No. 15, St. John's, No. 17 and Northwestern, No. 19, are the new teams in the Second Ten. Dropping out of the rankings were Purdue, Wyoming and Tennessee. The Boilermakers lost to Columbia, Wyoming to Louisiana State and

All Ready For Rose Bowl Clash

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Ohio State and Southern California, the nation's one-two football teams, are set to slug it out for national honors New Year's Day in probably the most significant Rose Bowl game in the long history of the classic.

The unbeaten Buckeyes, champions of the Big Ten, remained a narrow favorite today to stop the Pacific-8 Conference champs, undefeated but tied by Notre Dame during the regular season.

A capacity crowd of 100,000 is expected for the first Rose Bowl meeting of two undefeated teams since the two conferences began their closed series in 1947.

Kickoff time is 2 p.m., PST, with NBC doing the telecasting. Late forecasts said there would be no rain, a prediction that pleased the teams and the coaches. Woody Hayes of the Buckeyes and John McKay of the host Trojans.

Southern Cal, headed by quarterback Steve Sogge and fabulous halfback O. J. Simpson, will start a set of troops that far exceeds Ohio State in experience.

McKay's offense has six seniors, three juniors and two sophomores, and the defense three seniors, seven juniors and one sophomore.

The Buckeyes' offense, barring belated revision, will have five sophomores, four juniors and two seniors, and on defense, six sophs, four juniors and one senior.

Bowling Green, Toledo Smash Opponents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Well-balanced team scoring led Toledo and Bowling Green to easy victories in Ohio college basketball Monday night. Baldwin-Wallace also won but Ohio State and Kent State lost by narrow margins.

Four Toledo starters, led by Bob Miller with 22 points, scored in double figures and the Rockets romped over San Francisco State 97-58. Toledo led 49-30 at half and Coach Bob Nichols pulled his last starter when the Rockets took a 68-40 lead midway through the second half.

The Rockets, favored to win the Mid American Conference crown, now have a 6-2 record. Bowling Green, behind early in the game, clobbered Dartmouth 89-53 with five players scoring more than 10 points.

Dick Rodgers led the way with 18 points while John Connolly hit for 16. Ohio State, ranked 13th in the country, had one of its poorest nights as the Washington Huskies took a close 64-59 win, breaking the Buck's five-game winning streak. The Huskies shot 60 per cent in the second half and 50 per cent for the game while the Buckeyes managed to make only 36 per cent of their shots.

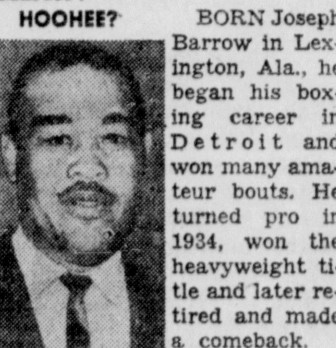

Junior center Dave Sorenson dumped in 16 points for Ohio State while Jody Finny hit for 12. The Buckeyes open the defense of their Big Ten co-championship at Indiana Saturday.

Northern Illinois nipped Kent State 52-51 in a game played at Dekalb, Ill. Northern led by seven at the intermission and held leads of 46-35 and 52-47 in the second half before the Golden Flashes narrowed the gap.

Ted Johnson pumped in 22 points and hauled down 16 rebounds in leading Baldwin-Wallace to an 88-67 win over Cleveland State.

UCLA Smashes St. John's University, 74-56

By DICK COUCH

Lew Alcindor and the awesome UCLA Bruins made a shambles of their Holiday Festival title game against St. John's, N.Y., while North Carolina's Charlie Scott and Kansas' Jo Jo White, two of America's Olympic basketball standouts, also sparkled in tournament play.

But Detroit supersoph Spencer Haywood, brightest of the U.S. cage stars at the Mexico City Olympic Games, was eclipsed by the Minnesota Gophers... and a guy named Mikan.

Alcindor, UCLA's amazing, 7-foot-1½ All American, led the unbeaten, top-ranked Bruins past St. John's 74-56 with a 30-point, 22-rebound performance for the ECAC Holiday Festival championship at New York Monday night.

Scott teamed with 6-foot-9 Rusty Clark to pace fourth-ranked North Carolina in a 103-76 conquest of Princeton for third place in the Madison Square Garden classic and White, whose college eligibility runs out next month, helped fifth-ranked Kansas trim Oklahoma State 56-45 in the title game of the Big Eight Conference tournament at Kansas City.

At Minneapolis, Larry Mikan, the son of former All American George Mikan, a Hall of Famer and the commissioner of the American Basketball Association, led the unranked Gophers to an 85-80 victory over previously unbeaten, seventh-ranked Detroit... despite a 34-point spree by the 6-foot-8 Haywood.

Mikan put in 29 points and grabbed 16 rebounds as Minnesota ended the Titans' winning string at 10 games.

Ninth-ranked Villanova, beaten by North Carolina in the first round of the Holiday Festival, took fifth place with a 70-65 victory over Holy Cross.

But six of the other nationally ranked teams in action, including No. 17 St. John's, were upended.

South Carolina knocked off 11th ranked LaSalle 62-59 in the final of the Quaker City Classic at Philadelphia and No. 15 Duquesne bowed to Louisiana State 94-91 in the title game of the All College Tournament at Oklahoma City after the host team downed No. 20 St. Bonaventure 81-71 for third place.

Washington topped No. 13 Ohio State 64-59 at Columbus and Butler ambushed No. 18 New Mexico 81-80 in overtime at Indianapolis.

Of the eight clubs in the second ten who played, only 14th ranked Louisville, which rolled past North Texas State 86-73 at home for its eighth victory without a loss, and 16th ranked Notre Dame, which smashed American University 92-67 at Baltimore, emerged unscathed.

Alcindor, playing in his native New York for the last time as a collegian, dominated the Festival final with his scoring, rebounding and shot blocking as UCLA zipped to its 24th straight victory and 71st in 72 games. The Bruins' Kenny Heitz limited St. John's ace John Warren to six points before a Madison Square Garden throng of 19,500.

Scott popped in 22 points... two less than Clark... as the Tar Heels semifinal upset victims of St. John's, captured consolation honors by racing past Princeton for their eighth victory in nine starts.

Dave Robisch, a 6-foot-0 sophomore, scored 22 points—10 of them in succession at the start of the second half—and floor general White added 16 in Kansas' Big Eight triumph over the Cowboys. The Jayhawks, 11-1, have won the tournament nine times.

Howard Porter, Villanova's touted, 6-foot-8 soph, erupted for 31 points—20 in the second half—as the Wildcats, 7-1, slipped past Holly Cross.

John Roche triggered South Carolina to its Quaker City triumph with 24 points as a team from outside Philadelphia took the title for only the second year in the tourney's eight-year history.

Pistol Pete Maravich, LSU's torrid-shooting All American, equaled the All College single game scoring mark with a 53-point binge that toppled the previously unbeaten Iron Dukes. Texas A&M's Benny Lenox set the mark in 1963. Rich Travis' 33 points led Oklahoma City past the Bonnies.

Washington scrambled past the Buckeyes behind a hot 60 per cent... first half from the field and the over-all shooting of forward George Irvine, who finished with 23 points. Butler wiped out a seven-point deficit in regulation play and shaded New Mexico behind Steve Norris' 19 points.

Butch Beard fired in 18 of his 25 points in the first half and Louisville went on a 13-0 tear in the second half to bounce North Texas. Norte Dame, 7-2, overwhelmed American U., with soph Austin Carr putting in 21 points to lead the assault.

Logan Elm, Westfall Open 69 Half Of Cage Schedule

Two county high school basketball teams resume action again this weekend after a holiday layoff.

Logan Elm and Westfall, idle since they clashed Dec. 20, have games scheduled.

The Braves face a rugged two-night home stand, hosting Eastern of Pike County and unbeaten Zane Trace on successive nights.

Westfall's Mustangs are idle Friday and travel to Uniontown Saturday in a Scioto Valley Conference game.

TEAYS Valley does not have a game scheduled this weekend. Laurelville plays at Southeastern Saturday.

Logan Elm, after winning the first three games of the season, has not lost three in a row.

Coach Charles Pritchard's Braves may have a tough time getting back on the win track this weekend.

Eastern each year fields one of the best teams in southern Ohio under the veteran coach, Gene Brushhart.

Zane Trace is unbeaten and Ross County observers feel the Pioneers are one of the best teams in Southeastern Ohio.

JEFF Reisinger, a 6-5 junior, has been the key in the Pioneer offense. But he gets double-barreled scoring support from Chip Maxwell, Dan Ratcliff,

Model Cities Plan Contains Surprise

DETROIT (AP) — To meet today's federal deadline, the Detroit Common Council approved a $20.5-million Model Cities application Monday, containing a recommendation from a 102-member citizens' committee that prostitution be legalized.

However, city officials said the proposal to establish legitimate red light districts was not part of the recommendations to be implemented in the next five years, if ever.

Bluebonnet Bowl Kicks Off Holiday

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Houston, coming back down to earth after the sensational show by the three Apollo 8 astronauts, gets a chance to blast off again tonight when it hosts the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl between Southern Methodist and Oklahoma.

That will be the appetizer setting the stage for the big New Year's Day menu of Bowl games—the Rose at Pasadena matching Southern California and Ohio State; the Cotton at Dallas with Tennessee facing Texas; the Sugar at New Orleans with Georgia against Arkansas; and the Orange at Miami with Penn State against Kansas.

Two more games are scheduled for Saturday with North and South squads clashing in the Hula Bowl at Honolulu, Hawaii and in the American Bowl at Tampa, Fla.

The week's post-season action got started Monday night in the Peach Bowl at Atlanta where Louisiana State rallied behind Mike Hillman's quarterbacking to beat Florida State 31-27. Hillman drove the Tigers downfield in the final minutes, completing two key passes and taking off on a 14-yard run to set up Maruice LeBlanc's three-yard plunge for the game-winning touchdown.

An overflow crowd of 60,000 is expected in the Astrodome tonight for the Astro-Bluebonnet which has succumbed to Mother Nature and moved indoors following nine weather-troubled years in Rice Stadium.

Oklahoma and SMU both logged 7-3 records during the regular season and feature explosive offenses.

"Both teams ought to ring the scoring bell a few times," said Chuck Fairbanks, Oklahoma's coach. The Sooners won five straight games after a so-so start and Hayden Fry, SMU's coach, insists that Fairbanks' club has developed into possibly the best team in the nation.

"Oklahoma became a great team because of its balance on offense and defense," said Fry. "Ohio State is not as good on defense."

USC and explosive O.J. Simpson, the Heisman Trophy winner, will find out just how good Ohio State's defense is in the Rose Bowl Wednesday. O. J. will have running competition from the Buckeyes' Jim Otis, a tough fullback, and rollout quarterback Rex Kern.

In the Orange Bowl, third-ranked Penn State would figure to be a major problem but the Nittany Lions will have to go some to give Kansas any more headaches than the Jayhawks encountered in their own conference—the tough Big Eight.

Three Big Eight teams—Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma—all won bowl bids and Missouri whacked Alabama in the Gator showdown 35-10 last Saturday.

"Through better recruiting and better coaching, the Big Eight has been brought into balance," said Charlie McCullers, Kansas' offensive coach. "The rivalries are tough and cold-blooded now from top to bottom."

Kansas survived the tough Conference with a 9-1 record to set the stage for the meeting with unbeaten Penn State, 10-0.

Tennessee may have some surprises in store for Texas in the Cotton Bowl. "New wrinkles," was what Doug Dickey, coach of the Volunteers, called them.

"We won't have anything drastic for Texas, but we'll try to have something different," said Dickey. "I'd be surprised if there was a whole lot of offense. I doubt the game will be completely wide open," said Darrell Royal, coach of fifth-ranked Texas. He said his club would "stay with the basics."

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles was struggling with how to deal with Georgia's tough defense in the Sugar Bowl. The Bulldogs had the best defensive statistics in the country this season.

"I thought when I left Georgia Tech, I wouldn't have to worry about playing Georgia again," said Broyles, who was a top quarterback and later an assistant coach at Tech.

Georgia's defense will have plenty to do against Broyles' club. "Arkansas has a tremendous offense," said Georgia Coach Vince Dooley, "certainly the best we've seen."

By GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer
SAN JUAN, P. R., (AP)—The Puerto Rican businessman shook his head at the disorder in San Juan's airport terminal and said, "Ferre will fix this."

He himself didn't know how an overnight solution could be found to the problems that result when tens of thousands of travelers make demands on facilities built for much smaller crowds. But like many other Puerto Ricans he has faith that Luis A. Ferre will find the answers to the island's many pressing problems when he becomes governor Thursday.

Despite an industrial growth rate of 10 per cent a year and the highest standard of living in Spanish-speaking Latin America, the island's unemployment rate is about 12 per cent. About one-third of San Juan's population lives in substandard housing.

Agriculture is in a depressed state. Ferre and his new progressive party were the victors in a stunning upset over the Popular Democratic party of Luis Munoz Marin, which had held uninterrupted political power since the early 1940s.

There is reason to believe that Ferre did not expect to win in 1968, but was actually setting the stage for 1972.

"The people wanted a change," Ferre said later. "The Puerto Rican people don't want political leaders who feel they are going to be in charge until they die."

Ferre made a lot of promises during the campaign, and some expect he cannot deliver, especially on potentially expensive projects, such as subsidies for island agricultural workers, slum rehabilitation projects, and a complex program to fight drug addiction.

But his supporters believe Ferre will bring to government some of the same success that has made the family owned Ferre Enterprises the largest and most successful industrial enterprise on the island.

The assets of this family complex, which is active in cement, steel, paper and communications, were estimated during the campaign at $160 million. Ferre said his own assets are about $5.5 million, plus $5 billion that he had turned over to his foundation. He has carried out a campaign promise to withdraw from participation in the Ferre Enterprises. For example, a new corporation was formed to take over operation of his newspaper, El Dia.

At 64, Ferre seemingly has endless energy. He was a fencing champion in college and still works out in his sport. He dresses simply but immaculately, and his hair is gray at the sides.

Something To Think About Those Resolutions

By JEAN CRIST

When the bells ring to toll in the New Year there will be a variety of New Year's resolutions made by the more determined members of our society.

They will resolve to do such things as go on a diet, stop being late for appointments or to quit smoking. These resolutions will all be made with the best intentions and the least preparation of any project the individual has undertaken but with the very real feeling that they will be carried out.

The first two days of dieting or going without cigarettes leaves one with a rather euphoric feeling and the belief one is master of himself. This bubble soon bursts as the pangs of habit begin to eat away like acid at the will power of the individual. Your wife continues to smoke making it more difficult for you, you have a position which forces you to entertain frequently and puts you in contact with delicious and tempting foods or try as you might, you are late for your first appointment.

It seems the powerful reaction patterns that you have formed over a long period of time come to the fore and you feel helpless in their grip. You lose one or two battles and feel you have lost the war. In dismay, you surrender for another year to your bad habits.

Many persons simply make no resolutions at all and are not troubled by waves rocking the boat of their existence, others make them but end up as I have stated above, feeling they have failed, but there are a few who make resolutions and keep them and by keeping them, add to their character and sense of achievement. What's their secret? What makes them succeed where so many fail? There isn't really a secret involved but there is one key to the success of these people and it is awareness. There must be an awareness of what is involved in trying to change an established way of doing a particular thing or of affecting a change in attitude.

Motivation is of prime importance when one desires to make a change. In order to insure the success of the venture the motivation must be strong enough so that one desires not to do something more than he desires to do it. As in the case of smoking, he must have a stronger desire or motivation not to smoke than to smoke. Each of us is motivated by a variety of things so only the individual himself can decide what reason or reasons will impel him to do or not to do a certain thing.

After the proper motivation is established we must give the situation some serious thought and acquaint ourselves as thoroughly as possible with the weapons of our adversary will use to defeat us. In regard to dieting, we must be aware that we will be placed in situations which will be sorely tempting, that we will not be helped by anyone but actually encouraged to "break down" just this once.

We must prepare ourselves in advance as much as possible to devise ways to meet these difficult times that will come repeatedly.

It is necessary to provide as good a climate as possible when one decides to make a change in his pattern of behavior. In other words, don't attempt to quit smoking or start dieting when you know you will be exposed to many parties or situations which would be particularly difficult. A period of physical or mental stress is a poor time to try to make a change as it only adds to an already stressful condition. Try to choose a time when you are feeling well and confident in your own abilities.

When initiating a change, start with as much enthusiasm and confidence as you can. Really go "all out," so to speak, convincing yourself and others that you really are going to make this thing work your way. Make it a point to commit yourself in front of other people so that it would make it embarrassing for you if you didn't follow through.

Finally, keep before you at all times the realization that you are human and being human you will make mistakes. You will falter and fall in trying to carry out this resolution. It is only an extremely rare person who immediately and completely reverses an established behavior pattern. For most of us it is a long and painful process dotted with temporary setbacks. But as long as you are aware that these will come, when they do come, you can accept them as such as not as a complete defeat. Only when you refuse to accept these temporary defeats as permanent and persist in your resolve, will you be successful in your undertaking.

This may seem to be an unduly serious consideration of the subject of New Year's resolutions, but if you give the matter some thought you will find that in keeping these promises to yourself, there is more involved than a casual statement made on New Year's Eve. It was not written to discourage but definitely to encourage the making and keeping of resolutions by helping you to realize some of the factors that enter into a decision such as this. These things that we promise ourselves to do are important because when we attempt to improve ourselves we automatically improve the world a little and this is a rather good idea considering the state the world is in today.

Best of luck with all those resolutions and Happy New Year!

Mail Clerks Get Invitation To Viet Veteran's Wedding

SADDLE BROOK, N.J. (AP) — Casanova won the hearts of Marianne Astegher and those of 100 night clerks at the Hackensack Post Office.

For 13 months in Vietnam, Army Sgt. Gordon Casanova of River Edge wrote a letter each day to Marianne, his fiancée, and decorated the envelopes with drawings and romantic messages of "I miss you" and "I love you."

Each night the postal clerks looked forward to Casanova's letters and their decorations and made sure they reached Marianne's home here.

The letters also were marked "DTG" with a number, signifying how many "days to go" Casanova had in Vietnam.

The clerks kept close watch of the countdown and when the letters stopped at "DTG 10," they became worried, thinking perhaps something had happened to the romantic soldier.

But their fears were unfounded. The 21-year-old soldier recently returned from the war unharmed.

Last week the postal clerks sent a letter of their own to Marianne, also 21, asking if everything was all right.

"It seems our nightly chore is over," the clerks wrote, "but it leaves us wondering about the eventual outcome. If there is a wedding how would we get to know, which would give us the feeling of a job well done?"

Casanova and Marianne, who met two years ago shortly before he entered the Army, decided the clerks should know of the outcome.

The couple visited the post office and invited the 100 night clerks to their wedding Jan. 11. The clerks accepted.

"We were really thrilled that people cared and went out of their way to be nice," said Casanova, now an administrative assistant in a chemical company.

Why did he decorate the letters?

"To make Marianne happy," he replied. "How much can you do in Vietnam. I always had a couple of hours free time to do it in."

Does Casanova live up to his name?

"As far as I'm concerned, he does," smiled Marianne, an attractive green-eyed blonde, who is a secretary.

And Monday night the couple picked up their marriage license.

No, I'm not going to decorate that," Casanova said.

Chillicothe Tax Increase Valid

CHILLICOTHE — A one per cent city income tax in Chillicothe is effective according to C. J. Frey, city auditor.

Income tax referendum petitions filed by a citizens committee seeking a referendum on an income tax increase were ruled invalid by Frey.

The board of elections declared 68 of the original 895 signatures on the petitions invalid.

There were 151 withdrawals of signatures from the petition, leaving only 678 legal signatures, 95 short of the required 771 according to Frey.

Chillicothe's new income tax rate becomes effective Jan. 1.

Police TV System Not Working Too Well

By ERIC M. SHARP

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP) — While shoppers look in windows along Union Street, policemen look at the shoppers on closed circuit television—a practice that has aroused both laughter and anger among Olean's residents.

The eight television cameras, mounted 20 feet above the street on lightposts, survey the five-block-long business center of this city of 22,000 cupped in the Allegheny uplands 70 miles southeast of Buffalo.

Opponents of the system have one major complaint—it hasn't worked well since it was turned on Sept. 27.

"They've got the cameras in the wrong places," said a bartender. "They watch the fronts of the stores, and any burglar with half an ounce of sense will go in the back."

His comment is backed up by the fact that two break-ins have been made at Union Street stores since the cameras were erected. In each case, entry was made at a camera blind spot, and the police didn't find out about it for some hours.

A shoe store operator pointed out another bug: "You can't see a thing on the televisions at night."

Those who favor television surveillance—including Mayor Harvey Shneiderman—say its faults are technical and can be eliminated through better equipment and experimentation.

As it stands now, television surveillance by police is not very effective.

In the daytime, the picture rarely is clear enough to identify faces at distances of more than 50 or 60 feet.

At night, the lower half of each screen displays a pattern of curving black and white lines, and the upper half shows little more than automobile headlights. A person walking along a sidewalk at night cannot be seen.

Michael Arnold, creator of the system and general manager of Olean's Allband Cablevision Inc. which installed it, admitted there are bugs, but said they will be corrected soon.

Arnold demonstrated one of the new zoom lens cameras.

He aimed it out a window of his office and it focused automatically on a house about 100 yards away. A picture of the house appeared on a television set hooked up with the camera.

Arnold pressed the zoom switch, and the telescopic lens brought the house in so close that only a small portion of the roof was displayed on the screen.

"You can read someone's watch at 700 feet with this thing," he grinned.

He said the problems of nighttime televising could be eliminated by using cameras with more light-sensitive lenses and changing from an aluminum-coated cable to a plastic-coated one.

The older policemen on Olean's 33-man force believe the system is a waste of time. The younger men are more ready to give it a chance and think it can be made to work.

Police Chief Michael Luty said Olean doesn't have much of a crime problem and believes television "will work better as a crime deterrent than anything else. Once it's working properly, a burglar is going to think twice about entering a building when he knows the police can see him go in."

Many of Olean's citizens seem to regard television surveillance as a joke. They say the city does not have enough crime to warrant it and think the problems encountered so far are not worth the effort to straighten out.

So far, the television experiment has not cost the city a cent.

"We pay for it when we accept it, and we don't accept it until it's working to our satisfaction," Shneiderman said. "When it does go into effect, it will cost the city a little over $6,500 a year, which is about the salary of one patrolman. Only the television cameras don't need vacations, get sick or go for coffee breaks."

Arnold admitted Allband is losing money on this experiment, but said the investment is worth it.
